

- An economic system of governance
- The Country set up and managed as a corporation
- Government for the people by the people
- CEO, CFO and Board of directors answer to the people
- All major decisions voted on by the people
- No Political parties or politicians
- Leaders are hired and can be fired by the people
- All citizens are shareholders in the corporation
- Citizens purchase shares and bonds and earn dividends
- The Privatisation of all former state companies
- Major investment in agriculture and small businesses
- Massive new building projects initiated to create work
- New dams, canals, railway systems and factories built
- Abolition of income tax. Tax only on goods and services
- Huge investment in renewable power sources
- Higher wages & shares for the unskilled work sectors
- Medical and teaching professions to receive higher wages
- Free education to all levels based on achievement
- Free medical care for all citizens
- Subsidised housing, power and food for the poor
- Manufacture and assembly moved into rural areas
- Repatriation of people from squatter camps to rural areas
- No more division previously created by politics
- A fair market economy for all the people
- Every citizen to have a say in the governance of the land
- Voting to be accessible to all via a finger print application
- The Mzansi Corporation is born.

Facebook: The Unity Group SA

www.theunitygroup.co.za

Non-Political Economic governance for South Africa